INVITING THE CITY'S SONS AND DAUGHTERS

To the Fourth Great Home-Coming on the Glorious Fourth of July

The committee on the return of the sons and daughters are today sending out another lot of invitations to former residents of this city, and will continue to send them as fast as they come in. The invitation reads as follows:

1853 1873 1883 1910
(Seal.)

Fourth Home-Coming of the Sons and Daughters of Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

The citizens of Portsmouth, N. H., request the honor of your presence at the Fourth Home-Coming, July Fourth, nineteen hundred ten.

CHARLES W. GRAY, Chairman,
E. PERCY STODDARD, Secretary,
LEWIS W. DREWSTER,
WILLIAM L. CONLON,
FRED E. DREW,

RALPH W. JUNKINS,
HARRY W. PEYSER,
FREDERICK M. SISE,
OLIVER L. FRISBEE,
JACKSON M. WASHBURN,
HORACE P. MONTGOMERY,
Committee on Invitations,
Portsmouth, New Hampshire,
May, Nineteen Hundred Ten.

A card accompanies each invitation which reads as follows:

It is the privilege and pleasure, as well as the honor, of the old "City by the Sea," to claim for Portsmouth, the credit of a first conception and a most successful accomplishment of the idea of home reception to absentees on July 4, 1853. Other towns and cities have since had their "Old Home Week," but ours was the first and best.

Two "Returns of the Sons and Daughters of Portsmouth" have since occurred—one in 1873 and one in 1883; and now it is proposed to hold the fourth reunion, on the fifty-eighth anniversary of the first Home-Coming, July 4, 1910.

It is desirable, in order to procure the largest possible attendance of absent Sons and Daughters, that the widest circulation shall be given to this notice. The committee on invitations therefore request that the names and addresses of all natives and past residents of Portsmouth may be sent immediately to the secretary.

Invitations will be sent to every person whose address may be in the possession of the committee.

It will be very helpful to the committee if you advise the secretary of your purpose to attend.

CHARLES W. GRAY, Chairman,
E. PERCY STODDARD, Secretary,
Portsmouth, N. H., May, 1910.

A large number of these invitations have already been sent out, many of them through the efforts of the Herald, which has published a blank form for the purpose, and which has been found convenient by our citizens. Fill those out with any such names and addresses and give or send them to the Herald office and we will see that they get into the hands of the committee.

Don't fail to see this act.

THE WEATHER

Saturday night and Sunday—Fair with moderate to cool temperature and light to moderate westerly winds.

Mark Twain Said--

"When a man goes to buy a collar, he comes home with a collar and perhaps a necktie, but when a woman goes to buy a collar, she returns with a new silk waist, a pair of gloves, ten yards of dress goods, several toilet articles, some window shades and a refrigerator."

We've always admired Mark Twain, and now to see if his business logic is as sound as his humor, we have put on a display—a most tempting display of window curtains and refrigerators.

If you are one of those women who buy curtains or a refrigerator this week, you will always be glad you did so, and you will be doubly glad you came in here to get them.

The MARGESON BROTHERS' guarantee of quality covers them all, and this week quality and price are exceptional.

You'll also be glad if you buy a Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet.

GOOD SINGING ACT AT MUSIC HALL

Aerobic Act Also Makes Good.

A large and appreciative audience attended the picture and vaudeville show at Music Hall last evening.

Miss Margaret Scott, a character comedienne, was very good. She possesses an extra fine mezzo soprano voice and sings some very catchy operatic roles with good effect.

Rhodes and Euget, a pair of acrobats, were very good and received good applause.

The picture program included "From Quebec to Niagara," a very interesting and instructive picture showing a very good picture of Niagara Falls, where tons and tons of water falls several feet over rapids, making a very pretty sight. Other pictures on the program were "Annie at the Boat Race," "The Tramp and the Clubman," a very funny comedy, "Spending a Holiday," and so forth.

Today there will be a complete change of pictures including five of the latest and best subjects.

Enjoy a cool, pleasant afternoon at Music Hall; Pictures and Vaudeville every afternoon and evening, 1000 seats 10c.

GOOD FLIGHT IN BIPLANE

Newburyport, May 28.—Several aeroplane flights, lasting an hour and a half and covering distances from one-quarter to one-half mile, at an altitude of 15 feet, were made Friday by William Hilliard in a Herring-Burgess biplane, at the Plum Island aviation grounds.

There was a brisk breeze blowing at the time, and it was thought at first that the flights would have to be postponed until the air was calmer. Hilliard, it is said, jestingly made a vow Thursday that he would not eat until he had made a flight, and he evidently was hungry on Friday for he launched the machine despite the breeze and flew across the meadows in splendid style.

The biplane has lately been equipped with a new device to give it a "stall" in the air. This device is intended especially for use in "stall" races, and today it had its first real test. The inventor and Mr. Hilliard say that it worked remarkably well. W. Starling Burgess, the yacht designer, who is one of the designers of the aeroplanes used in the Plum Island flights, said Friday that that morning's flights were the best that had been made at Plum Island.

Calculations giving the battleship Idaho the trophy for record target practice may be entirely upset by the remarkable record made by the new battleship South Carolina, now engaged in her first target practice off the Virginia capes. One of her 12 inch turrets made a record which never has been excelled in any navy, averaging more than two hits a minute, and her firing throughout was good. If her night practice and her torpedo practice are up to the mark, she is likely to eclipse the best records made this year under similar conditions.

ALL IN SUBMARINE LOST

Hope That Any of Twenty-Seven Men of the French Pluviose Survive Is Abandoned.

Calais, Franco, May 28.—Hope that any of the twenty-seven men imprisoned in the French submarine Pluviose which was sunk by the Pas de Calais off here Thursday, survive was all but abandoned on Friday. Reports made by the divers who under great difficulties are attempting an examination of the wreck, indicate that the hull of the submarine was crushed in the collision. A flotilla of torpedo boats and dredges with the force of divers worked vainly throughout the night to raise the ill-fated war craft from her bed 100 feet below the surface. Strong currents interfered greatly with the operations and at noon today little had been accomplished. Admiral B. de la Javoye, French minister of marine, is on the scene personally directing the work.

The appearance of the submersible on the surface for a brief period following the accident is attributed by navy experts to a desperate attempt of her commander to operate the flooding machinery.

The Channel steamer Pas de Calais sighted the periscope of the Pluviose some seventy feet ahead and backed, but too late to avoid a collision. The lookout who first saw the periscope said today that he had never seen such an instrument before and his took it for a buoy. The report that the Pluviose was operating beneath the Channel steamer in furtherance of its practice in torpedoing passing vessels is not generally credited. Later Friday afternoon the Pluviose was lifted from her mud bed by the swift undercurrent and swept from the view of the divers who were not able to again locate her.

A Bath a Year

The bath, it is said, is the measure of civilization. He who bathes once a day must be a better human being than he who bathes once a week, once a month or, like the Mexican Indians, once a year. There is a belief among these people that to bathe is to court sickness and death. There was a sick boy in a hut where a friend of mine stopped one day, and my friend suggested to the father that a bath might cure him. The father held up his hands in horror.

"A bath! That would kill him!" he exclaimed. "I never bathed in my life, and my children never bathed and never will."

Down in the Low Countries, however, they do bathe once a year.—Outing.

A King's Trick

King Gustavus III. of Sweden had been frequently invited to the little court of Schwerin. In 1783 he paid a visit to Germany, and as soon as the Duchess of Mecklenburg heard of his approach she prepared fetes in his honor. But Gustavus, who disdained the petty courts of the small rulers sent two of his attendants—a page named Peyron and Desvoignes, a valet who had formerly been an actor—to be entertained by the duchess. The two personated the king and his minister, Baron Sparre, and sustained the characters throughout. They accepted as their due all the homage meant for their master, danced with the Mecklenburg ladies who were presented to them, and Peyron went so far as to ask one of the ladies for her portrait. Meantime Gustavus was enjoying himself elsewhere in secret.

Richmond Castle

Richmond castle was originally one of the strongest of Norman keeps. It was probably founded by Alu Rufus, one of the sons of the Duke of Brittany, who took a prominent part in the suppression of the Saxons. At a later age the castle passed into the possession of Edmund Tudor, who married Margaret Beaufort and became the father of Henry VII. Henry was born Earl of Richmond, and he bestowed the title upon the magnificent palace which when king of England he built upon the banks of the Thames. Thus the Richmond beloved of cockneys has a comparatively modern origin. The curfew, by the way, is still rung from the tower of Richmond castle at 6 a. m. and 8 p. m., a custom "that has continued ever since the time of William the Conqueror."—London Globe.

Game In Manchuria

The long hated tiger is found throughout Manchuria wherever there is hilly country, but is never found on the plains. It is extremely difficult to bag and is by no means numerous. In addition to tiger the following game may be found in Manchuria: Deer (dark and brown), wapiti, Sika deer (two species), roe deer, serow, wild pig, leopard and lynx. All, however, are scarce and hard to bag, with the exception of roe deer and pig. —London Field.

AUXILIARY FOR BICYCLES.

Motorcycle Attachment For the Ordinary Wheel.

A power attachment for bicycles has recently been invented which calls for no structural alterations to be made in the ordinary bicycle and which can be attached or detached in a few minutes. The device comprises a small auxiliary wheel twenty inches in diameter fitted with a light motor, which is connected to the rear wheel of the bicycle. An ingenious pivoting arrangement allows the wheel a peculiar lateral and vertical movement, so that the steering of the machine is in no way affected, and permits the wheel to glide over obstacles or rough ground without transmitting any shock or vibration to the rider.

The motor is a small air cooled, horizontal, two stroke engine with a specially designed hub, to which the power is transmitted through a six to one reducing gear. The magneto ignition and vaporizer are mounted on the same plane and in line with the engine, so that the whole is rendered very compact.

The engine is valveless, the inlet and exhaust being governed by ports, alternately covered and uncovered by the piston. It develops one and three-quarter horsepower.

To attach the motor wheel to the ordinary cycle it is only necessary to remove the nut of the back wheel spindle on the chain side of the machine and to attach the frame of the auxiliary wheel to the spindle and bolt it up, an operation occupying a few moments. A single lever regulator controlling the motor is clipped to the handle bar, the connection with the motor mechanism being a flexible wire. This single lever controls the action of the engine to a nicety.

The wheel complete weighs only twenty-five pounds, and the motor is capable of driving the bicycle at an average speed of sixteen miles per hour on an ordinary road, with a maximum speed of about eighteen miles on the level. The fuel tank in the mud guard is of sufficient capacity to carry the motor 100 miles.

SYSTEMS UNFAIR TO PRODUCERS

Probers Declare Against the Leasing of Milk Cars

REPORTS ARE SUBMITTED

Contractors Getting Fair Profit on Amount of Money Invested, While Producers Are Not—Inspection in Boston Stated to Be Manifestly Inefficient—Bill to Repeal Four Statutes Is Favored

Boston, May 28.—Recommendations that the present system of leasing of milk cars to large contractors on the part of the railroads should be ended and that the railroads should carry milk just as all other freight, were the principal findings made last night in a report by the joint special committee which has been investigating the production, transportation and marketing of milk.

The committee, in a lengthy report, finds that the five large Boston contractors, if they act together, can exercise a monopoly over the price paid to the producers and the prices charged to the consumers.

It finds that the milk inspection in the city of Boston is manifestly inefficient and that this work cannot be satisfactorily done by the health officials of the cities and towns and should be vested in a central authority.

The contractors, according to the report, are getting a fair profit on the amount of money that they have invested; the producers, at the present prices paid, are not, states the report, as the farmer is unable to make a profit upon less than 4 cents a quart for his milk.

The railroads are scored for the manner in which they lease cars to the contractors, and the lack of facilities for the producer to ship his milk in competition and under the same conditions is termed intolerable.

The committee finds that the contractors, upon their own admission try to restrict the supply by lowering the price to producers during the summer months.

The committee favors a bill now before the legislature to repeal four statutes covering the conduct of the milk business in the state, which would give to the railroad commissioner power over the freight of milk.

The committee believes that an investigation should be made of the "rate system" of New York and that it should be accepted in this state if it proves to be for the interest of the public.

Whether there is active competition among the contractors for market the committee finds to be problematical, but it does find the system of leasing cars to contractors tends to restrain competition.

The majority report is signed by Messrs. Melien, Warren, Gardner, Avery and Bean. The minority reports, submitted by Messrs. Tinkham and Meany, agree generally with the majority report, but both believe that the present system of inspection is so inefficient and ineffective that there should be immediate corrective legislation.

Senator Meany, in addition, believes that immediate steps should be taken to correct the present inequalities of the transportation system. He favors the "open car" and the "flat rate."

The committee was appointed May 6 and began to hold public hearings at which all sides of the present milk controversy were heard, the producers, the contractors and the consumers.

Besides the hearings, the plants of the contractors have been visited and observation has been made of the method of handling milk.

MINISTER TO MOROCCO

Taft's Secretary Resigns and Is Given a Diplomatic Post

Washington, May 28.—Fred W. Carpenter, secretary to President Taft, resigned and was at once nominated by the president to be United States minister to Morocco. The following statement was made at the White House:

"The appointment of Mr. Carpenter to Morocco was made on his own application to be relieved of duties as secretary to the president, which have been so heavy as to threaten his health. The president thought that as Morocco has a delightful climate, the change of duty which this would afford was wise, and consented to Mr. Carpenter's resignation of his present position. Mr. Dodge, who is the present minister to Morocco, is to be transferred to another post. No person has been selected yet to succeed Mr. Carpenter."

TAFT RESENTS HOUSE ATTACK

Stirred by Colloquy Over
His Traveling Expenses

"SOUTHERN HOSPITALITY"

President Says He Is Deeply Grieved Over That Particular Phase of Discussion—Tells Why He Grants Requests to Visit People in Their Homes—Tawney Agrees That Frequent Trips Are a Duty of President

Washington, May 28.—President Taft sent to Chairman Tawney of the house committee on appropriations a letter expressing deep resentment at the criticisms passed by Democrats in the house debate upon the traveling expenses of the president. The president says he is especially distressed by "suggested reflection on southern hospitality." The president's letter says:

"I am deeply grieved over the phase which the discussion of the appropriation for the traveling expenses of the president took yesterday. I think it is a legitimate argument in favor of such an appropriation that congressmen and many others press the acceptance of invitations to visit their sections and districts, because the urgency of such requests indicates the opinion on the part of the people that one of the duties of the president is to visit the people in their homes. But the intimation or suggestion that the acceptance by congressmen of the president's invitation to travel on the train with him in their respective districts or states was a reason why they should not voice their free opinions on the question of such an appropriation is to me a most painful one.

"In traveling upon the train they were not receiving my hospitality; they were making a little more elaborate the cordial welcome which they as representatives of their district wished to give.

"The feature of the discussion yesterday which was especially distressing to me was a suggested reflection on southern hospitality. The intimation that somewhere in the south board was charged has no foundation in fact, and I never heard it intimated until I saw it in this morning's paper.

"In all my experience, and I have enjoyed the hospitality of many sections and countries of the world, I never had a more cordial, generous, open and lavish welcome than I had in the southern states during my trip, and the slightest hint that puts me in the attitude of a critic of that hospitality gives me great pain.

"I am going to take the liberty of making this letter to you public."

Following the receipt of President Taft's letter, Tawney issued a long statement saying that the colloquy of the floor between himself and southern members regarding "southern hospitality" had been distorted. Tawney's statement follows in part:

"It is ridiculous to suppose that I would reflect privately, much less publicly, upon the floor of the house of representatives upon southern hospitality, which is proverbial and than which—as I can say from experience—there is nothing more cordial or more generous to be imagined.

"But I agree with the statement of President Taft in his letter to me that 'it is a legitimate argument in favor of such an appropriation that congressmen and many others press the acceptance of invitations to visit their sections and districts, because the urgency of such requests indicates the opinion on the part of the people that one of the duties of the president is to visit the people in their homes.'

"I had spoken of a man who would ask the president to be his guest, entertain him, and then criticize him for making the visit, as 'in effect charging him board.' Mr. Bartlett of Georgia, evidently misunderstanding my remarks, then demanded to know of a single instance where the president was charged board, and Representative Hamer of Idaho, before I could reply, injected the facetious comment that he thought it was in Georgia.

"Of course, the president was never charged for his board when the guest of anyone in Georgia or anywhere else, and no such allegation was made."

Baden Baden, May 28.—Professor Robert Koch, the famous bacteriologist, died here from a disease of the heart. He was born at Klausthal, Hanover, Dec. 11, 1843.

Professor Koch received decorations from the German and French governments for his discoveries. He visited the United States in 1903 and attended the international tuberculosis conference in Philadelphia.

DRAPER FULFILLS CAMPAIGN PLEDGE

Eight-Hour Bill Is Vetoed by Governor of Massachusetts

Boston, May 28.—Governor Draper has fulfilled his promise made in last fall's campaign that he would veto the "eight-hour" bill if the same measure reached him as that which the legislature of 1909 sent to him.

The veto message was received in the house yesterday. The governor states that the bill is practically the same as last year's, and that his reasons for withholding his approval are substantially those which governed his action last year.

"I think," he says, "that this bill would be a disadvantage to, and an unfortunate interference with, many contractors and business men of this commonwealth; would provide employment for men in other states which would be taken away from men in our own state; and thus make it harder for our business men and laboring men to be successful in their various classes of employment."

HOMESTEAD BILL PASSES

Will Assist Poorer Classes in Bay State to Own Their Homes

Boston, May 28.—The purchase of land and homes for mechanics, factory hands and laborers in the various cities and towns in which manufactures are carried on in this state is provided for in the homestead bill passed in the house by a vote of 113 to 72. The bill provides that a home may be secured by the purchase of $100 in bonds and the payment of $15 a month rent, the price of the bonds to go towards paying for the house.

Homes are to be purchased in the suburbs of manufacturing cities. The commonwealth will issue bonds of $100,000 for the purchase of land.

A homestead commission is appointed which has the right to take land by eminent domain. Houses can be bought at the cost of construction plus 5 percent.

THREE SUGAR MEN

ADMIT THEIR GUILT

Motion For Dismissal of Remaining Indictments Denied

New York, May 28.—Harry W. Walker, Gene M. Voelker and James P. Halligan pleaded guilty in the sugar frauds trial. The three men were co-defendants with Charles R. Helke, secretary-treasurer of the American Sugar Refinery. Walker was former assistant superintendent of docks at Williamsburg and the other two were checkers.

After the introduction of letters of some of the correspondents of Charles R. Helke, the prosecution announced that it rested its case. Judge Martin announced that he would pass sentence on Walker, Voelker and Halligan later.

Motions for the dismissal of indictments against the three remaining defendants, Helke, Garbracht and Bendernagel, were made by their counsel and denied by Martin.

STILL HAS BANK ACCOUNT

Coleman Thinks It Belongs to Him, Though He Robbed Bank

Boston, May 28.—George W. Coleman, who, while bookkeeper, stole $210,000 from the National City bank of Cambridge, yesterday told Judge Hale and the jury in the federal court that he still had money on deposit in Cambridge banks.

Coleman's definition of what constituted his own money was illuminated by Attorney Conkley in a cross examination. Coleman explained that although at times he was debtor to the bank for sums ranging into the hundreds of thousands, what balance remained to his own account was called by him his own.

Coleman told of hilarious times in the most expensive New York resorts with Miss Mamie Hightower, who is accredited with being his sweetheart.

This was the opinion John L. Sullivan, the ex-champion, expressed when he returned from his honeymoon trip abroad and landed from the liner Mauretania. After a tour of Ireland and England lasting five weeks he looked in the pink of condition.

TESTS NOT MET BY BALLINGER

Secretary Not Fit For Office,
Declares Brandeis

HAS PRAISE FOR GLAVIS

Refers to Him as "Ideal Public Servant" and Says His Loyalty to American People Was Higher Than That Which He Owed Ballinger—Tells of Secretary's Connection With "Special Interests"

Washington, May 28.—In summing up the case of the so-called "prosecution" before the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating commission, Louis D. Brandeis, counsel for L. R. Glavis, declared that it had been conclusively established that Secretary Ballinger is not a man "so zealously devoted to the interests of the common people, so vigilant and resolute in resisting the insidious aggressions of the special interests that he may be safely relied upon to carry forward the broad policy of conservation of our national resources. That he is subject to far severer criticism we firmly believe," added Brandeis.

Mr. Brandeis referred to Glavis as the "ideal public servant" and to Gifford Pinchot as "a man of character so high as to be even above the suspicion of self-seeking." He vigorously defended the action of Stenographer Frederick M. Kerby in making public confidential information of the interior department bearing on the preparation of the Lawler memorandum and said: "To criticize Kerby for this act involves a total misconception of the nature of our government."

"The direct and ultimate issue, Brandeis said, requiring decision from the committee was, 'Is the department of the interior in safe hands? Have the conduct and the associations of Ballinger been such, are his character and his conceptions such that he may be safely continued as a trustee of our vast public domain?'"

That Ballinger does not meet the required tests, Brandeis maintained, had been conclusively established, and if this were true, the department of the interior should be under other guidance. Brandeis continued by giving a chronological resume of the Alaska coal land situation and Glavis' connection with it. He pointed out that the Cunningham claimants are Ballinger's personal and political friends and that they are powerful and influential.

"Was it a coincidence," he asked, "that the investigation by Special Agent Jones in the summer of 1907 was stopped shortly after Ballinger went to Seattle after the making of the agreement between the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate and the Cunningham claimants?"

Mr. Brandeis then took up Ballinger's action in acting as counsel for the Cunningham claimants after he ceased to be commissioner and reviewed the evidence in that respect showing that Ballinger, after having handled the claims as commissioner, felt no hesitancy in representing the claimants as counsel, yet when he became secretary of the interior, "he felt barred from representing the people because as he had stated he had 'incidentally acted for the Cunningham claimants.'"

Mr. Brandeis then turned his attention to the charge of insubordination against Glavis because he had gone over the head of his superior, in taking the case to the attorney general and afterward to the president when he saw that the interests of the public were about to be placed in jeopardy. He said there was a higher loyalty than the loyalty which he owed Ballinger. It was a loyalty to the American people. The same was true of Kerby.

USED FORK ON FATHER

Worcester Police Are Looking For Violent Thirteen-Year-Old Boy

Worcester, Mass., May 28.—A 13-year-old boy is being sought by the police, charged with attempting to stab his father to death. He is Richard Carron, son of Elias B. Carron. The case was reported to the police after the father's wounds had been dressed at the city hospital. The father said that the boy was noisy and he ordered him to bed.

During the night Richard arose, and taking a large fork from the kitchen, entered his father's room, crying: "I'll kill you!" He then slugged at his father, but in the darkness his aim was uncertain, and the most serious wound was inflicted on the father's shoulder.

TWO STUDENTS EXPELLED

University Authorities Used Electrical Device in Probing of Theft

Providence, May 28.—Electrical devices secreted in the pockets of clothing of students, hanging in the lockers of the gymnasium, for the purpose of detecting the persons committing the numerous thefts of watches, jewelry and money, led to discoveries that have resulted in the expulsion of two young students from Brown university.

Electric wires that were connected with a light bulb in the office of Fred Marvel, supervisor of the gymnasium, were placed in the pockets of the clothing of students that contained wallets and jewelry. In two instances the wires were wrapped around the wallet in such a way that the mere touching of it lighted the bulb in the office of Marvel.

Mr. Marvel was sitting at his desk when the light flashed up and remained burning. Instantly he went to the gymnasium, where he caught the two culprits. After a thorough investigation they were expelled from the university.

LOVE'S DREAM SHATTERED

Prelate's Daughter Who Married a Japanese Now Want Divorce

Reno, Nev., May 28.—Mrs. Gunjiro Aoki, formerly Miss Gladys Emery, daughter of Archdeacon Emery of Corte Madera, Cal., is living in Carson City, establishing her six months' residence, preliminary to seeking a divorce from her husband.

Archdeacon Emery, the woman's father, left Carson City after arranging details for his daughter's residence. A baby 10 months old and Mrs. Emery, mother of Mrs. Aoki, complete the little family group.

Gunjiro Aoki was a Japanese servant employed in the Emery house. Gladys was the archdeacon's only daughter. The Japanese and the white girl fell in love and a stormy scene and scandal came when they announced that they must marry in order to be truly happy.

Public indignation arose and opposition was such that the couple, failing to secure a clergyman to perform the ceremony in California, fled to Seattle, where they were united.

SHIPPERS PROTEST INCREASE IN RATES

Action Under Sherman Anti-Trust Act Is Demanded

Washington, May 28.—Charging that the railroads west of Chicago and St. Louis have entered into conspiracy to increase their rates before the enactment of the administration bill, a committee representing thousands of shippers in Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Minnesota will appear before Attorney General Wickersham and formally demand that the government enjoin the railroads from enforcing the rates and institute proceedings under the Sherman anti-trust law.

This is the first formal action taken by shippers to protest against the action of railroads throughout the country in raising rates in anticipation of adverse railroad legislation. The delegation from the west are prepared to launch a campaign against what they declare to be unjust rates. Their first appeal will be to the attorney general.

SUES HOSPITAL FOR $5000

Negro Nurse Was Refused Admittance to Pittsfield Institution

Pittsfield, Mass., May 28.—Claiming she has been discriminated against because of her color, Sarah O. Henderson, a negro, has filed a claim of $5000 against Hillcrest Surgical hospital of this city.

Some time ago she answered a prospectus of the hospital relative to a post-graduate course for trained nurses and was accepted. She gave her nationality as American and made no mention of her negro blood.

When she arrived in this city, she says she was refused admittance to the hospital. She has retained an attorney.

Dr. Richardson, in charge of the hospital, stated that, had the woman stated her color, her application would have been turned down, as neither of the local hospitals enrolls negro women for nurses.

MR. CARPENTER'S TRANSFER

The transfer of Fred W. Carpenter, private secretary to the president, from that position to be minister to Morocco, is the best move President Taft has made since he assumed the office with Carpenter as his private secretary.

It is a fact, known by every newspaper man in Washington, that Carpenter has been the ice berg that has given a chill to all of Taft's friends and done great harm. He is a bright young man without a particle of diplomacy in his makeup and with a great amount of self-conceit. His transfer will improve Taft's popularity.

THE FIRST MAINE REPUBLICANS

On Friday afternoon and evening the first caucuses were held at Portland to choose delegates to the Republican convention that will nominate a successor to Congressman Amos L. Allen of the first Maine district, the district which embraces York and Cumberland counties and contains that important government industry, the navy yard. There were four candidates before the party, Colonel Frederick Hale, a son of Senator Eugene Hale, Mr. Richard Webb, a prominent lawyer, Hon. Edward C. Reynolds, another prominent lawyer, and Mr. Asher C. Hinds, the famous parliamentary expert of the national house of representatives. Mr. Reynolds lives at South Portland, but practices his profession in Portland. The three other gentlemen all vote in the Maine metropolis.

The struggle is generally understood to be between Colonel Hale and Mr. Hinds, with Mr. Webb commanding a respectable support, and Mr. Reynolds in the position of a very available "near" dark horse. The result is that the votes of the Portland delegation, the members of which were chosen by ward caucuses, will be divided, Mr. Hinds carrying five wards, Colonel Hale four, and Mr. Webb had respectable support. Mr. Reynolds gets whatever prestige may attach to the largest number of delegates from his home city.

Since the Republican party appeared in Maine, that state has sent but four men of other party affiliations to congress, and the total of their services is only six terms. In the election of 1854, the Republicans first nominated men for Congress and they swept all the Maine districts except the far eastern, where the late Thomas J. D. Fuller of Calais, a Democrat, squeezed through by a narrow margin. At the next election that district went into the Republican column along with the others. The next member of the opposition to win a place in congress was Mr. Leonard D. M. Sweet of Portland, who cropt in at the time when despair over the fortunes of war cost the party so many congressmen throughout the north in the elections of 1862, and would have made a Democratic congress if the seceded states had been represented. Mr. Sweet served only one term.

In the height of the Greenback uprising in the late '70s, two men were elected by coalitions of Greenbackers and Democrats, those men being Geo. W. Ladd, a Bangor merchant, and Thompson H. Murch of Hurdville Isle, a leader in the stonecutter's labor union. At the election of 1880, the coalition was still strong, capturing the governorship for Harris M. Plaisted, and reelecting Messrs. Ladd and Murch. In 1882 Maine elected all Republican congressmen and has since continued to do the same. It will be thirty years in September since anybody except a Republican had any show at a seat in congress from the Pine Tree state.

While the Republicans of that corner of the first Maine district near this city are generally in favor of Colonel Hale for congress, they can be depended upon to contribute a handsome portion of the majority which will be accorded to whichever of the four available men wins the nomination. They are all men of good personal reputation for character and ability and of excellent party standing.

The first Maine district is going to keep up the Maine Republican pace this year. That is a fact generally admitted, even by the Democrats who have been so elated over recent Democratic victories in several towns and cities of the first Maine district and partial Democratic victories in the counties of the district.

The successor to Congressman Allen will be a Republican.

BIRDEYE VIEWS

The bill to have future presidential inaugurations come on the last Thursday in April, instead of March 4, seems likely not to win its way through congress. There is no dispute over the objections to March 4, but the senators and congressmen are not willing to add almost two months to the short session of congress, and stay in Washington while the chief benefit will be derived by the Washington hotel keepers.

The veterans of the Civil war and of the war with Spain will march through our city's streets before the next issue of this paper. The soldiers and sailors of today will march with them and help, in the honors to their lead. Let our citizens help in these honors.

It is up to the Voters—Senator Bourne of Oregon claims that his state has the best system of popular government in the world today—the Australian ballot, registration of voters, the initiative and referendum, the direct primary, a corrupt practice act and recall, in other words an absolute government by the people. Any system of popular government may not be what it appears on the statute books. The best and most effective governmental machinery may be abused. Under any system the results depend wholly on the voters, and will not be any better than the voters insist that they shall be.—Somersworth Free Press.

New Hampshire Must Do Better—Less than forty per cent of the voters of the two great parties went to the primaries in Indiana Tuesday, an indifference to the nomination of the best men which augurs that the people were not as desirous of the system as they were supposed to be, or that having got what they wanted they soon tired of it. The general assumption was that the party primary system would unhorse the professional politicians, the bosses and their kind, but judging from the fact that Tom Taggart's slate went through safely they find no difficulty in keeping in the saddle.—Boston Transcript.

Send in Their Names on the Blank Printed in This Paper

The committee on the return of the Sons and Daughters are anxious that names of former Portsmouth people who are now residing in all parts of the country should be handed in as early as possible, and it is the intention of the committee that no native or former resident be overlooked.

The Herald, every day of late, has been handed several names by the people who are interested.

To help the committee on invitations and the public, this paper will print the following blank daily, which can be filled out and returned to this office, and we will see that it gets into the hands of the committee.

AN INCIDENT OF THE CIVIL WAR

Boston, Mass., May 25, 1910.

Editor Portsmouth Herald:

With the near approach of another Memorial Day, a day pregnant with sacred memories to those who wore the blue; it occurred to me that a hitherto unpublished sketch connected with Appomattox and the Association of President Lincoln would be of interest to your readers, especially to the wearers of "the little bronze button."

Immediately following the surrender of the army of Northern Virginia the Confederate living in Maryland, the Virginians and North Carolina, started homeward as best they might, but principally afoot. The Gulf State troops were in the woods at Burkeville Junction, the site of our former camp, awaiting some sort of transportation to their homes. They were separated from my regiment by a narrow and shallow ravine. There had been very little interchanging of visits, the Johnnies naturally being in anything but an amiable mood, but there were no signs of a repressed hostility.

Early one morning it was rumored about our camp that President Lincoln had been shot and killed by John Wilkes, and that Secretary Seward had been fatally stabbed by a man named Payne. This was considered by us all as the climax of camp rumors. The war was over and what was to be gained by killing the President, and nobody had ever heard of John Wilkes. But at night a mounted orderly came up from City Point with the news that President Lincoln had been shot to death by John Wilkes Booth and that Secretary Seward had been stabbed but not fatally. In a twinkling the joys of victory had been succeeded by consternation and no one could predict the probable outcome. The next morning I crossed the ravine to ascertain how our late adversaries regarded the fateful intelligence. To their lasting credit, he said, that not one even faintly exulted as over a fallen foe. Very few expressed themselves at all, but those who were in a frame of mind to discuss the terrible tragedy did so most sorrowfully. One of the most intelligent of them all, a lieutenant of the Fifth Alabama, talked without reserve, and with evident sincerity. Said he, as he backed up against a tree trunk, arms behind him, "Jack, I don't believe that a true Southern man committed that awful crime. Politically, I had no use for Lincoln, but as a man among men, and as a statesman he had my profoundest respect. And remember my words, that I and my comrades believe that if Lincoln had lived he would have done better by the South than any man likely to succeed him. I still believe that our cause was just, but we have been whipped and, for me, I accept the result in good faith."

In view of the troubles of the reconstruction period under President Johnson the opinion of the Alabama Johnny will be read with interest.

EVENTS OF ELIOT

The Backward Condition of Farm Work

South Eliot Methodist Minister at Home Again

Eliot, Me., May 28.
Mr. and Mrs. Albert P. Libbey arrived from Boston on Friday evening, and will spend three days with their parents in Eliot.

It is expected that Rev. Fred C. Norcross will return today to his home in Kittery village, and will occupy the pulpit at the South Eliot Methodist church on Sunday afternoon as usual. He has been at New Sharon, where he was called by the severe illness of his mother.

Deacon Wallace E. Dixon is passing a few days in Boston.

Will Shapleigh killed a 42-inch milk adder, the largest seen in this vicinity in a long time. Snakes of all kinds are very scarce in this town.

Charles H. Keyes, representing the Harbour Stock Well company of Cambridge, Mass., was in town on Friday, surveying for a new frog and connections at the electric railway switch in front of the Staples store.

There will be much work done at farming on the holiday if the weather will permit. The making of gardens and planting of field crops are related and no opportunity will be missed.

There is expectation that the parade at the town centennial in August will be about the biggest thing ever seen in York county outside of Biddeford, Saco and Old Orchard.

DOVER NOW UP TO DATE

ONE MOMENT PLEASE!

Electric Sign advertising is no longer an experiment. The most successful firms of world-wide reputation as well as the stores with whom we have done business give us facts that prove the advertising worth of Electric Signs to be far in excess of any method of advertising that has ever been devised for the amount expended.

Look for the most enterprising city of today and you will find one that uses Electric Signs on all available locations and where merchants appreciate the advertising value and use light. I am making and selling the best signs that can be produced, not the cheapest, but signs that will stand up and give service for years. Recent inventions have reduced the cost and also the cost of maintaining. Public spirit and civic pride demand well lighted business sections in our cities, why not do your part with a well lighted, artistic Electric Sign and increase your business as well.

I charge nothing for estimates or sketches and am always willing to explain details and serve your interests. Respectfully yours,

BUSINESS SCHOOL SCORES BIG SUCCESS

Drama and Dance at Freeman's Hall With Large Crowd.

The class of 1910 of the Plymouth Business school scored a success, on Friday evening, with a drama and a dance at Freeman's hall. There was a good attendance and everybody was well pleased with the work of the scholars in their presentation of the comedy drama "Bar Haven."

The entertainment was the first attempted by this school and it may be such a success of it that it is now ours to be a yearly event.

Bar Haven is a comedy drama in three acts and while rather heavy in spots was well presented, all of the members of the cast doing well in the parts assigned to them.

Between the acts there was a musical program, a violin solo by Mrs. Leona A. Moore and a vocal solo by Percival Primmerman. Hoyt and Parker's orchestra also assisted.

The following was the cast:

Captain Hiram Hopper, an old fisherman.....Samuel J. Fletcher, '10

Hardy Stone, his helper, with ambition to be Kate's, Raymond Hoyt '10

Leo Bradley, in search of an heir, and in love with Spray.....Harold G. Getchell

Gideon Graham, a wealthy rascal, also in love with Kate.....Percival E. Primmerman

Rev. John Wesley Wiggins, parson of Bar Haven.....Arthur C. Gunnison, '10

Cy. Brackett, who is fishing for fish and Arbella.....Harry A. Green, '10

Mrs. Wardell, of "The Manor".....Annie D. Hill, '10

Florence Wardell, her daughter,....Edna Wardell.

Bertha A. Akerman, '10
Kate Wardell, who comes into her own.....Edna G. Raitt, '10
Spray Hopper, the Captain's daughter, who laughs at love.....Elizabeth P. Perkins, '10

Arbella Wortendyke, between the devil and the deep sea.....Alice B. Ryan, '09

Act 1—Home of Captain Hopper, Christmas eve.

Act 2—On Beacon Hill. The Glorious Fourth of July.

Act 3—Parlor in "The Manor." "And he brought the good ship safely in."

Time—The present. Place—Seacoast near Portland, Me.

Following the drama the floor was cleared for dancing and there was a large number that remained until the last waltz at one o'clock. It was a merry gathering and everybody voted the class of 1910, P. B. S., ideal hostesses.

The matrons of the affair were Miss Charlotte E. Wright, Miss Alice E. Sanford, Mrs. Mary A. Ryan, Mrs. Mabel H. Perkins, Mrs. Charlotte A. Randall, Mrs. Rose E. Akerman, Mrs. Florence E. Cook.

The committee were: Floor committee, Bertha Akerman, Gertrude Adams, Mary Randall and Cora M. Seward.

Stage director, Dean Nelson; aids, Cecil Tarleton, Alvah Caswell.

Printing committee, Arthur Gunnison, Samuel Fletcher, Philip Trafton.

Executive Committee, Elizabeth Perkins, Harry Green, Raymond and Edna Raitt.

Yeaton and as the life of such a man is an encouragement and inspiration to all with whom he has ever come in contact, so his death brings a feeling of inseparable loss and sadness for the loss of a touch of the vanished hand and a sound of a voice which is still.

ALL TIRED OUT

Hundreds More in Portsmouth in the Same Plight

Tired all the time;
Weary and worn out night and day;
Back aches; side aches,
All on account of the kidneys.
Must help them at their work.
A Portsmouth citizen shows you how:
Clinton R. Hurd, 26 Hill Street, Portsmouth, N. H., says: "Three years ago I had an attack of kidney complaint and suffered terribly from backache. It was almost impossible for me to do any work when the trouble was at its height and I always felt tired. The use of one box of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at Philbrick's Drug Store, relieved me and soon corrected all the difficulties arising from disordered kidneys. During the time that has since elapsed, I have been asked scores of times about Doan's Kidney Pills and I have always been pleased to tell of the great benefit I derived from this remedy. I cannot praise Doan's Kidney Pills too highly."

TUNGSTEN STEEL LATHE TOOLS.
Up to the present time the most important use of tungsten is an alloy for steel tools. From 16 to 20 per cent of tungsten is ordinarily used for tools. It enables the steel to hold temper at a much higher temperature than ordinary carbon steel. A lathe may be speeded up until the chips flying from the tool are so hot that they turn blue. It is estimated that about five times as much work can be done with such a tool as with one made of ordinary steel.

Heating Power of Wood.
Government reports are the fullest kind of reading, but there is an occasional line or two that redeem pages that are flat, stale and unprofitable. The following is worth reading: "The greatest heating power is possessed by the wood of the linden tree, which is very soft. Fir is next and almost equal to linden, then pine, while hard oak and other hard woods possess more than 10 per cent less heating capacity than linden."

HINT FOR INVENTORS.

Convenient Method of Making Patterns of Small Objects.

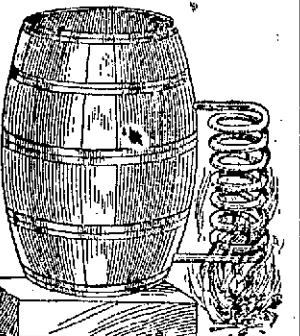

How often does the inventor want to see how a thing will "look in metal," but on account of the expense and delay involved dislikes to make a pattern and take it to the foundry, writes a correspondent of Popular Mechanics. A wood pattern of some design, say a handle, would take considerable time to make and finish up to it would make a decent casting.

In the case of many small articles much trouble may be saved by making what the writer has termed "beeswax patterns." They may be made as follows: Pour the melted beeswax into a rough mold (a paper box will do) approximately the size you wish for your pattern. When this wax is cold, carve it to the desired shape, using a sharp knife slightly warmed. Make another rough mold similar to the first and fill with plaster of paris mixed with water to the consistency of cream. Immerse the beeswax pattern in this, leaving vents and gates and taking care that no air bubbles form, and let stand until set and thoroughly dry. Slowly heat the plaster to a temperature sufficient to cause all the beeswax to run out of the gates and vents which have been provided. Pour in melted solder to replace the wax, allow it to harden and break open the plaster. You will then have a smooth solder casting, which, if necessary, can be worked to a better shape with the soldering iron. This solder casting may be used for a pattern which will give excellent results. Beeswax lends itself well to this kind of "sculpturing" if rightly handled. It may be turned on a lathe, drilled and generally fashioned at will. This method is not practicable where a core, as for the inside of a ball, is required, but otherwise has a wide range of usefulness.

NOVEL WATER HEATER.

How an Ordinary Barrel May Be Converted into a Boiler.

Having a quantity of cement left over from building a new house, I concluded to build a crematory with it, writes a correspondent of Popular Mechanics. I had tried the old plan of heating irons in the fire and using them to heat the cement without much success, so I devised the plan of heating the water in a coil attached to a barrel. This proved very satisfactory, as the temperature was below zero and the water had to be heated for the concrete. I set two barrels about six feet apart, one elevated about three feet above the other, and then bent three coils in a sixteen foot piece of three-quarter inch pipe, putting one end in each barrel. This left the pipe in a slant between the barrels. A fire was built under the coil, and cold water was poured into the elevated barrel. As the water ran through the coil it was heated and passed into the lower barrel hot and ready for use.

HEATING WATER IN A BARREL.

Another method is to attach a pipe coil to one barrel, as shown in the illustration herewith. This will cause a circulation free enough to heat the water rapidly.

Disease in Paper Money.

Germs—92,000,000 of them—were found on a single one dollar bill by scientists of the department of agriculture. The bill was exceptionally dirty. In the big colony that was thriving on the bill were the bacteria of smallpox, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, tuberculosis and diphtheria. Germs do not thrive on metal money. The action of the metal in coins, especially copper, seems to be hard on the microbes, and if any get on they die within a few hours. They will live and thrive on paper money for a long time. The dollar bills, which are the most frequently circulated, are the worst from a sanitary point of view.

Free Receipt for Weak Men

Gentleman Will Send It Confidentially, Free and Sealed, to very Weak and Unable Man Who Writes for It.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So, I have determined to send a copy of the prescription, free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope, to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men, and I am convinced it is the surest acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor failure ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence, so that any man, anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what, I believe, is the quickest acting, restorative, rebuilding, SPOT-TOUCH, and remedy ever devised, and, so, cure himself at home quickly and cheaply. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 4724 Luck Bldg., Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid receipt, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope, free of charge.

WAR INEVITABLE

Popular Feeling Regarding Peru and Ecuador Dispute.

Lima, Peru, May 28.—Another large contingent of the army is proceeding to the northern frontier today.

Despite official assurances from Washington that Peru and Ecuador have accepted the arbitration of the United States, Brazil and Argentina in their boundary dispute, the popular opinion is that war is inevitable owing to the conditions which Ecuador imposes respecting mediation.

"SHOWERING" THE BRIDE.

Pretty Ways of Presenting Her With Prenuptial Gifts.

"Shower" parties for a bride to be are great fun both for the prospective bride and for the friends who give them. Still, there is likely to be a shade of embarrassment about the occasion, as there so often is when gifts are presented and received, unless some pretty foolery is devised to swallow up the bride's gratitude in laughter. At one very successful linen "shower" which happened not long ago the guests as they arrived deposited their gifts for the bride elect in an immense hollow wedding bell of orange blossoms, which was hung between the doors that separated the two parlors. The guest of honor, by the way, was invited for an hour a trifle later than that named for the others, so all the gifts were safely in the receptacle, out of sight, when she arrived.

After luncheon, when every one was assembled in the parlor, the hostess put the end of a long white satin streamer which hung from the bell into the bride elect's hand and asked her to give a good stiff pull. Out came a veritable shower of pretty handmade garments, burying the bride in a flurry of white, and amid the laughter and the scrambling to pick things up the bride's thanks and exclamations of delight couldn't possibly embarrass the givers.

Another good idea is to secrete the gifts in unexpected places about the house. Then after luncheon the bride and her friends have a hunt for them. It is as much fun as the game of "hide the thimble"—more, if the hostess will take the trouble to label each gift with a bit of quaint advice or some fun provoking motto. One woman whose home boasts a billiard room led the guests at a party she was giving in honor of a bride elect upstairs to this apartment. There on the table, upside down, were a number of plates, each with some absurd counsel for young "Newlyweds" on its back. The bride to be was commanded to read all this aloud before turning the plates, but when she had done this there were revealed twelve exquisite hand painted plates, each given by one of the guests. A "traveler's luncheon," where the gifts are offered in miniature grips, suit cases and hat boxes, is nice for an engaged girl if she expects to spend her honeymoon traveling, as many people do.

Pie or Plato?

The devotees of the old fashioned idea of education for scholarship, of the value of scholastic attainment for its own sake, of the worth of culture as apart from its possible aspect of utility, might just as well fold up their tents and, like the Arab, quietly steal away.

"They are done for. It is high time to be admitting it.

One by one the institutions of higher education have been knocking down to the popular demand for dishwashers and home cooks.

And now Miss Caroline Hazard, president of Wellesley college, has joined the housekeeping brigade. "The day of the scheduled scholastic life is past," said President Hazard in her annual report. "In common with all so called higher institutions of learning, Wellesley must be ready to prepare its graduates for a useful and active life in the world."

In this connection President Hazard recommended the establishment of a new course in economics to have special reference to household management.

Now, it were a great pity to cast a word of reproach at the movement toward the proper understanding of household science which has swept over the country recently. It must without doubt be set down as one of the sanest and most helpful educational efforts that the last decade has seen.

With the ever increasing number of institutions who need women at their heads who are skilled in the science of housekeeping, it is essential that more and more women should qualify themselves for expert service of this sort. And, too, with the changed conditions in the home, where the tendency is no longer for girls to learn the homely arts of cooking and sewing from their mothers, there is a definite need for class room instruction in these branches.

But why must every cultured college to the country open its doors to the science of pie baking? A gentle and noble art in very truth it is. But must it rub elbows with the study of the poets and the thinkers of the world? Must it lock step with the pursuit of the significant facts in the world's history? Is what is left of four years, after time for basketball, fraternity dances, college plays and committee meetings is taken out, too much to spend in the atmosphere of mere books?

Doubtless it is. One forgets that only old fogies would refuse to class pie with Plato.

Beeswax in Cracks.

Ugly cracks or splits in furniture can easily be filled with beeswax so that the marks will hardly show. Furniture dealers cover up many blemishes in this way. Slightly soften the beeswax until it becomes like putty, then press it firmly into the cracks and smooth the surface over with a thin knife. Sandpaper the surrounding wood and work some of the dust into the beeswax. This gives a finish to the wood, and when it is varnished the cracks will have disappeared. Putty is sometimes used in the same way, but it soon dries and falls out, while beeswax will remain in practically forever.

YOUR MEMORY.

If It Seems to Fail You Just Give It a Good Jogging.

Memory does not "fail" (except in cases of all the faculties); it simply gets weak and languid for want of use, just as the physical organs do. People often say "My memory is failing," when it is really as good as ever if they would give it a chance.

A word, a date, a name, an incident, comes up, or, rather, fails to come up when you want it. There seems to be no possible way of remembering it. You make two or three efforts, give up and say, "There's no use; it's gone from me."

Nonsense! It hasn't. It is there just as much as it ever was, only there are a lot of things over it. Keep at work, bring your will to bear upon it, try and try and try, and after awhile you can get it.

And, better, you will find that the exercise required in remembering it will help you next time and that a little toil and determination put together will accomplish wonders in the whole range of faculties.

Look over your memory, see where you are most deficient and exercise it in that respect. You can do it at any odd time, while you are walking, riding, resting after a day's work, listening to a dull speaker. Don't let a few failures discourage you. The long corridor of recollection lined upon both sides with valuable material will be opened for you because of your importunity if you use it.—Exchange.

BARGAIN HUNTING.

The Strenuous National Game of the American Women.

There is always something impressive about a crowd that is swayed by a single emotion. You get an impression of force, says Mary Henton Vorse in Success Magazine. These women, who a few moments ago had been quiet shoppers, formed a mob. They swayed and pushed as though moved by a common impulse toward a table where were the embroideries. From their throats came a little dull growl, a curious noise—the whisper of a mob.

The noise of a mob in joy or in anger or in fright or just its restless murmur as it waits is different from any other noise that comes from a human throat—quite distinct, of a curious animal thumber. I heard it once on the occasion of the throwing of a bomb, again from a crowd waiting for a bank to open and a third time in a theater when fire had been called, and now here it was in miniature from a couple of hundred women waiting to buy ten cent embroideries.

They were poor women with shawls and baskets, women with babies in their arms, women with threadbare clothes carefully brushed, who must think before spending each dime in the dollar, but for once indulging in the great sport of American women—bargain hunting.

Edward Everett.

Edward Everett was one of the most purely literary of all American orators. Among the more eminent scholars and statesmen of our land no one has ever been more deservedly honored for intellectual power, purity of character, public and private, and for clearness and perception of judgment than Everett.

To the efforts of Edward Everett more than to any other one person is to be credited the raising of funds sufficient to purchase the home of Washington at Mount Vernon. He delivered a lecture on the character of that great man more than a hundred times and gave the proceeds to the Ladies' Mount Vernon association. He personally placed over $50,000 in the treasury. It is probable that his oratory won for benevolent purposes at least $100,000.—St. Louis Republic.

The Oldest Reliable Date.

It used to be supposed that the most ancient civilization of which real records had been found dated from B. C. 3500. This had relation to Peru and its earliest known inhabitants, but Dr. Eduard Mayer, professor of ancient history at the University of Berlin, studying the Egyptian calendars on the monuments in the state museum of the German capital, discovered that the date B. C. 4241 is frequently cited as that in which the early Egyptian astronomers first calculated their solar year from the rising of the star Sirius. This is by far the oldest reliable date in the history of the human race.

The Word "Belfry."

The word "belfry" had originally no connection with "bell," an idea which is now intimately associated with the term. The first meaning given is "watchtower," from the middle English "berfry," a watchtower. The first part of this word is connected with "borough," the second with "free." As the practice grew of hanging "bells" in such towers people reminded themselves of the fact by changing the word "berfry" into the modern "belfry."

TAFT RESENTS CRITICISM OF HIS EXPENSES

Washington, May 28.—President Taft Friday sent to chairman Tawney of the house committee on appropriations a letter expressing deep resentment at the criticisms passed by democrats in the house debate yesterday upon the traveling expenses of the President.

The President says he is especially distressed by "suggestive reflection on southern hospitality." The President's letter follows:

The White House,
Washington, May 27, 1910.

"My Dear Mr. Tawney—I am deeply grieved over the phase which the discussion of the appropriation for the traveling expenses of the President took yesterday. I think it is a legitimate argument in favor of such an appropriation that congressmen and many others press the acceptance of invitations to visit their sections and districts, because the urgency of such request indicates the opinion on the part of the people that one of the duties of the President is to visit the people in their homes.

"But the intimation or suggestion that the acceptance by congressmen of the President's invitation to travel on the train with him in their representative districts or states, was a reason why they should not vote their free opinion on the question of such an appropriation is to me a most painful one. In traveling upon the train they were not receiving my hospitality—they were only making a little more elaborate the cordial welcome their districts, wished to give.

"The feature of the discussion yesterday which was especially distressing to me was a suggested reflection on southern hospitality. The intimation that somewhere in the south, board was charged has no foundation in fact, and I never heard it intimated until I saw it in this morning's paper.

"In all my experience, and I have enjoyed the hospitality of many sections and countries of the world, I never had a more cordial, generous, open and lavish welcome than I had in the southern states during my trip, and the slightest hint that puts me in the attitude of a critic of that hospitality gives me great pain.

"I am going to take the liberty of making this letter to you public.

"Very sincerely yours,
William H. Taft."

"Hon. James A. Tawney, House of Representatives."

Birmingham is Due Early in Week

The Bids on the Job on Building No. 20.

Why Not One for This Station
The naval appropriation bill which passed the senate recently carries $50,000 for the establishment of a rifle range at the Charlestown navy yard. Something of this sort is more needed here, where we have double the number of marines the year round and would save a good many dollars in transportation to and from Wakefield range every year where the guard is sent for practice.

Bidders and Figures on Building No. 20

The following were the bidders and figures offered for the remodeling and fireproofing of building No. 20, the former pattern shop: Noel Construction company, Baltimore, $46,400; H. P. Converse, Boston, $43,400; C. M. Leach, Boston, $58,883; J. E. Leamy, Syracuse, $53,824; Connors Brothers, Lowell, $52,250; Marcello and Whitford, $41,957.

May Not Keep the Marietta Much Longer

It is understood that the navy department has instructed that repairs and alterations on the U. S. S. Marietta be carried out far enough to fit the vessel for only 18 months service. Such orders make it plain that the vessel may at the expiration of that time be put out of commission and perhaps sold.

A Few More in the Hull

The labor board today issued a call for three holders on, one left hand riveter, one calker and clipper.

Taking One from New York

The Baltimore, now out of commission at the navy yard, New York, has been ordered transferred to the navy yard, Philadelphia. The status of the vessel will not be changed.

What of the Sterling

The Sterling is quietly tied up alongside the old dolphins and the yard officials are still waiting to hear from the department as to what disposition will be made of the vessel.

Cruiser to be in Soon

The scout cruiser Birmingham is said to be cruising along the coast, and is expected to arrive here for docking the first of next week.

Back at Work

John S. Kimball, laborer in the machinery division, has recovered from a recent illness, and returned to duty.

What Will be Done With the $7,000

The officials of the navy yard are not in the least any more disappointed in the matter of a new bridge than are the residents of Kittery. Its a question whether the $7,000 allowed for repairs will go for plank or piling to patch up the old structure.

BIRTHDAY WHIST PARTY

And a Handkerchief Given to Mrs. Charles Hayes

Mrs. George P. Fernald entertained at whist on Friday evening, in honor of her friend, Mrs. Charles Hayes, who on that day reached another milestone in life's journey. Sixteen ladies, among whom were six sisters of Mrs. Hayes, sat down to play. At the conclusion the first prize was awarded Miss Annie Beane of Newington, Mrs. Fred Peckham receiving second.

The attractive home was very prettily decorated with cut flowers. A very dainty lunch was served. Mrs. Peckham very ably presided at the piano and Mrs. Charles Badger very pleasingly rendered several vocal solos.

A very pleasing feature was a shower of handkerchiefs when these useful articles of every kind and description was showered upon Mrs. Hayes.

EX-MAYOR BROUGHTON APPROVES

Of Utilization of Old High School for a City Hall

Ex-Mayor John H. Broughton remarked to the Herald man this morning: "All this talk about the proposed City Hall (old high school) being out of the way is nonsense. It is but a few yards from the square. It will serve the city for many years, and at the end of that period it can be vacated for another if the city can afford it.

"Of course it was short sighted policy to allow the present city building to tumble down and the citizens have no one but the previous city governments to blame. I am one that believes the plan to fit up the high school building is not a bad one."

Chickering

PIANOS

It would be like carrying coals to New Castle for us to make any comments or to extol the virtues of the oldest piano in America in the face of the appended eulogium. Mr. Busoni has created the musical sensation of the year by his wonderful playing wholly on the CHICKERING.

Messrs. Chickering & Sons.
Gentlemen:

Not because it would be a comprehensible impulse of politeness,—nor even because we are associated in one common artistic interest,—but merely through sincere sympathy and pure conviction, I feel bound to express to you my high appreciation and my deep gratitude as far as are concerned your great achievements and your most kind services with the Chickering Pianos. To realize an enjoyable piano-playing, these are the conditions to perform beautifully beautiful music on a beautiful instrument. The first I try to obtain, the second is provided by great masters, charming masters, respectful masters, the third, undoubtedly you have produced into my hands. There are pianomakers's art studios, and there are pianomakers's manufactories. Remain, as you are, the artists in pianomaking. It is the way to add your own chapter to the history of music.

I am, Gentlemen,
Yours most faithfully,
Ferruccio Busoni
